Mr. George F. Ball,
105 Hill St.,
Barre, Vt.

Dear Mr. Ball:

I am sorry that I was not in the day you were down here. Mr. Noe and I talked over what you had to say to him and I do not see that we would be warranted in buying your coins. To begin with, there are none to speak of that we have not got and we would be under the necessity of selling virtually the bulk of the collection, and the only way we have of disposing of these is through auction. It is rather hard work to sell to anybody, unless they have a chance to see the whole collection.

Have you thought of giving the collection to either Elder or Hesslein? As near as I can make out, Hesslein is getting pretty good prices. It is too bad you could not have gotten in correspondence with some of the dealers when they were at the Convention at Hartford.

I beg to remain

Very sincerely yours,

Curator
